PROFILE

Marketing, product and analytics in one person, with 15+ years building consumer products across marketplaces, mobile apps, subscriptions and digital health in Brazil, LATAM, Europe and the CIS. The work is translation: talking to users, turning that into what gets built, and turning that into numbers the business can act on - and back again when the numbers say something the story has not caught up with. My core strength is finding what actually limits growth - positioning, activation, retention, supply quality or the measurement itself - and building the system around it.

CORE STRENGTHS

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Head of Marketing | Flowwow Brasil Jun 2023 - Dec 2025 | Remote from Porto

Global marketplace for flowers and gifts, 40+ countries. Built and scaled Brazil as a local market.

- Built Brazil market entry from zero: owned GTM and growth strategy, adapted the product and acquisition model to local behavior and operational reality, with geo-segmented acquisition built on conversion, competitive intensity and partner density.
- Found and fixed a delivery-date filter that did not hold through to checkout: users picked a date, chose a gift, and only found out at checkout that the shop could not deliver. App-only. The fix produced roughly a 40% increase in in-app revenue, about 17% of total revenue.
- Reoriented category strategy toward locally relevant products - gift baskets (cestas de presentes) reached about 40% of GMV - after showing that the cause of the bento cake boom in Russia did not exist in Brazil.
- Developed localized positioning, messaging, tone of voice and creative strategy for a high-scam-perception market, so the product felt Brazilian rather than translated; led PR and influencer marketing with very large creators and major business media.
- Improved marketplace conversion by raising content and supply-side standards, and built shop-facing enablement that changed what partners did.
- Led a local team of 3-4 plus three agencies and allocated capacity from the global SEO, analytics and design teams. Budget ran from EUR 10-20K a month while the economics were unproven to around EUR 100K at seasonal peaks. Reported to the Flowwow Brasil CEO, then directly to the global board (COO, CFO, CPO).

9x revenue growth in 2024 - 3x revenue growth 2025 vs 2024 - 17 Brazilian states - 450+ partner stores

Chief Marketing Officer | Ornament Health Feb 2020 - Aug 2022 | Remote

Consumer digital health app, 2M+ installs, 150K MAU at peak. Joined when the product was free and acquisition was underdeveloped.

- Built the marketing and growth function from scratch: launched performance across Meta, Google and TikTok, ran it myself for a year before the first hire, then built a team of seven plus four agencies. Budgets from EUR 50K to EUR 300K a month.
- Led a repositioning off the back of 40+ user interviews: the original biohacking audience loved the product but was too narrow to scale, so we expanded to broader wellbeing - sleep, energy, weight management - without losing the advanced functionality.
- Owned monetization: introduced pricing experiments and rolled the subscription out across markets.
- Defined activation and AHA moments (lab-results upload, quiz completion) and built lifecycle and behavioral programs - push, segmentation, automation - around behavior-change health journeys.
- Worked with medical experts on responsible content, and built acquisition and education programs for women's health audiences (pregnancy, postpartum, menopause).

4x reduction in CPA - 5x traffic growth - expanded addressable audience - foundation for subscription growth

Head of User Acquisition | DocDoc Jul 2017 - Feb 2020 | Moscow

Largest MedTech platform in Russia: doctor search, booking, clinics, telemedicine.

- Implemented cohort-based analytics and moved growth decisions off short-term order counts onto LTV and payback logic.
- Identified that app users carried meaningfully higher long-term value than web users, then built and optimized the web-to-app funnel until the app became a real growth channel, supported by manual, automated and event-triggered push programs based on behavior and intent.
- Caught and corrected my own model error: the cohort model predicted the behavior but not the cash, because under the clinic agreements the first six months generated almost nothing. I corrected it, reset expectations, and renegotiated terms with some clinics.
- Worked both sides of the marketplace - patients on demand, clinics and doctors on onboarding and retention - and contributed to telemedicine monetization logic.

+40% in orders from the web-to-app journey - +20% in revenue after clinic terms were renegotiated

Earlier | Anews, Grape International, RBS Corporation 2009 - 2017 | Moscow

- Anews (news aggregator): mobile growth on an ad-monetized platform - mobile marketing, ASO, paid acquisition. Spoke at industry conferences because it supported ad sales.
- Grape International: first mobile role, single marketer hired to launch the product. Coverage in TNW and other tech press, the first Facebook mobile campaigns.
- RBS Corporation (digital marketing agency): assistant to the PR manager, then press secretary - articles, client case studies on Google Ads, video production, speechwriting.

4M+ installs across paid and organic channels
